How the Role of the HME and CRT Sales Professional is Changing: The Past, Present, and Future
We will take a look back on the role of the Sales Representative and how that impacted Referrals and Sales. Then we dive into today’s market needs and changes and how the Sales Professional needs to change to meet the demand and harness the referral from the Medical Community. Last, we peer into the future and see how the ever changing referral process will dictate what will be a mandatory requirement of the Sales Professional. We also look at how social media, Google, and Kiosk may play a bigger role in referrals moving forward. Learning Objectives: What is the Role of a Sales Professional Was and Is Today; Is the role of the sales person changing and if so how? What will the role of the Sales Professional be like in the next few years? How do we prepare our Sales Team to be Professionals and not just Reps?
